

SOONER OR LATER

I didn't jump another one jumped
I did not sing another one sang
I find myself again but rarely for very long
Am everywhere nowhere, sooner or later.

I don't know much but one thing's for sure
He who wakes up behind the light, one thing comes to him
He who triumphs today will be afraid tomorrow
For the bill will come, sooner or later.

I don't want to pretend that I know the score
I have far more questions than I know the answers
We almost succeeded, we were very close
But betrayal comes to light, sooner or later.

Those cars over there, they go back and forth
Where one is going to, the other is coming from Go a little further along the river here
The truth will come out, sooner or later.

© 2022 George Leitenberger